Organisation

This roundtable consists of 16 flash presentations (in 4 rounds) following the pecha kucha method and includes public debate about an innovative handbook under construction. The central question is 'how institutions innovate in practices of action'. The aim is first to give a boost to institutional studies in the field of planning, and second, to explore the alternative combinations through which institutional approaches and the philosophy of pragmatism can be approached.

- Round 1 - Institution in Action:
- Round 2 - Learning and institutional innovation:
- Round 3 - Political and cultural institutions in cities:
